What is Cresthaven RPG?

Cresthaven RPG is like a grand quest where you and your pals become epic characters in a magical world. Imagine it as a mix of storytelling, imagination, and a pinch of fairy dust! You'll have a trusty guide called the Dungeon Master (DM) who will assist you and ensure everyone has a blast.

How to Play: Taking Actions and Rolling Dice

When it's your character's turn to shine, whether it's discovering hidden treasures or battling fearsome monsters, you'll use special dice called polyhedral dice. These dice decide if your actions succeed or not. Rolling high numbers usually means good things happen, while low numbers might make things more interesting. Don't fret, your DM is like a wizard who'll make sure the adventure is a "roll-tastic" time!

Getting Clues and Making Choices

Your journeys in Cresthaven RPG are packed with clues and choices. You'll meet quirky characters and solve riddles that shape your adventure. Remember, you're the hero, and your decisions can turn the story in all sorts of exciting directions!

Playing as a Character

First things first, you'll create your very own character. You get to pick what kind of hero you want to be, like a mighty warrior or a cunning wizard. If it feels like a lot, don't worry; we have ready-made characters for beginners. In Cresthaven RPG, every hero has special abilities and skills that make them stand out.

Important Game Terms – With a Side of Dad Jokes!

- Ability Focus: This is like your character's superpower. It gets stronger as your character gains experience. Just like Dad's ability to tell corny jokes – it only gets better with time!
- Armor Class: Think of it as your character's armor rating. It's like wearing a suit of "armor-nium" against enemy attacks!
- Character: Your character is your in-game hero, and there are many types to choose from. It's like picking your favorite flavor of ice cream, but with a sword!
- Difficulty Check: It's a target number set by the DM. You need to roll dice to meet or beat this number to succeed. Kind of like trying to do your homework before bedtime – a challenge!
- Dungeon Master (DM): The DM is like the storyteller and referee of the game. They're the "master of ceremonies" of your adventure!
- Heroics: Special points that can help your character do amazing things. Think of them as your character's secret "super-duper" moves!
- Hit Points: This shows how healthy your character is. If it goes to zero, your character is in trouble! It’s like your character’s health bar – just don’t let it run out like the last slice of pizza!

- Experience Points (XP): You earn XP by doing tasks and fighting. It helps your character become better. It’s like leveling up in real life, but with fewer chores and more dragons!
- Level: It shows how skilled and experienced your character is. It’s like going from being a rookie to a seasoned pro – just like Dad becoming a “dad-joke expert”!
- Notice: It’s how aware your character is without actively searching. The DM uses it. It’s like having “spidey-sense” but without the spandex!
- Polyhedral Dice: Different dice you use to decide what happens in the game. There’s even a cool 20-sided dice! It’s like having a bag of dice with different superpowers – your own dice Avengers!

Understanding Abilities

Your character has special abilities like being strong, smart, or quick. Here are some of them:

- Strength: How strong your character is. It’s like lifting the heaviest backpack on the first day of school!
- Wisdom: How wise and smart your character is. It’s like knowing the answers to all of life’s riddles – except why the chicken crossed the road!
- Dexterity: How fast and agile your character is. It’s like being the quickest kid on the playground during tag!
- Intelligence: Represents knowledge and problem-solving skills. It’s like being the best detective in town, always solving mysteries!
- Constitution: Reflects endurance and overall healthiness. It’s like having an extra serving of vegetables at dinner!
- Charisma: Indicates persuasion and influence capabilities. It’s like having the charm to talk your way out of chores!
