Human

written by CresthavenRPG Guru | December 14, 2014

In a world of magic and mythical creatures, humans stand out as a race of extreme variability. They come in all shapes and sizes, and can possess a wide range of unique abilities that make them versatile and adaptable to any situation. Whether they hail from grand cities or rural villages, humans are found in every corner of the world, and have a reputation for being prolific and resourceful.

Their flexibility and adaptability often give them the upper hand against other races, allowing them to overcome any obstacle that stands in their way. Whether facing the dangers of the wilds or navigating the complex politics of the city, humans are a force to be reckoned with in any setting. Their tenacity and resilience are legendary, and they are often seen as the ultimate survivors in a world of danger and uncertainty.

Ability Scores: Humans cannot exceed +3 in any ability

Ability Score Max: Humans have a max total combined ability total of 7

Size: 5 – 6 foot tall, 120 – 250 lbs

Speed: 120 feet

Languages: Common

Special Racial Abilities: None

Limitations or Restrictions: None

Classes Allowed: Any